

How would you sell your funeral home?

Your funeral home is likely the largest asset you have and is built on many years of work and commitment to your community. When it comes time to sell, who will you trust to do a proper evaluation?

Many owners feel they have a pretty good sense of value based on what they have heard on the street. These numbers can be seriously skewed either leaving money on the table or pricing your business out of the market.

Lagace Connecting Link has evaluated, sold and structured hundreds of deals that are fair to both buyer and seller.

When your community needs a funeral professional, they call on you.
